Slay Woman-Killer

COLUMBUS, O.—A man who killed a 36-year-old woman in a downtown parking lot Thursday night was slain in turn by police bullets 3 hours later. Police said Mrs. Margaret Werts was bound with adhesive tape, criminally attacked in her own car and then shot three times.

Agree To Talks

PANMUNJOM—The Communists have agreed to a United Nations proposal that advisory officers meet in secret sessions to break the deadlock in negotiations for a Korean peace conference.

TRISTE—Six persons were killed when police and anti-American and anti-British rioters clashed for the third straight day. At least three policemen were killed by a grenade.

Youth, 14, Injured When Hit by Auto Along Route 13

John Reedy, 14, of 306 Cedar lane, Elkins Park, was seriously injured at 5:12 p. m. yesterday when he was struck by an automobile on Route 13 at Tennis avenue, Andalusia.

Reedy suffered a possible skull fracture and cuts of the chin and scalp. He was taken to Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia, by the Bucks County Rescue Squad.

Driver of the car was identified as Stanley W. Ray, 25, of 4646 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, according to Bensalem Township Patrolman Joseph Picciotti.

Ray, who was driving toward Philadelphia, told police he heard a thud against the side of his car. He immediately stopped his car, then saw the youth lying in the road, he told police.

The youth had been to the Andalusia post office to mail some letters and was recrossing the street to get to where his father's car was parked on Station avenue, when the mishap occurred.

No charges were filed against Ray, pending outcome of the youth's injuries.

Andrew R. Ebert, of 427 Knorr street, Philadelphia, suffered cuts of the face when his car left State road near Pen Ryn School and crashed into a utility pole at 10:23 p. m. yesterday, police said. He was taken to Nazareth Hospital by Bensalem Township Patrolmen Picciotti and Herbert Keller.

CALL ASSESSMENT TOO LOW

Tullytown School Board Raps Base For Taxes on L'town Shop Center

The Tullytown School Board authorized Superintendent John S. Linscott to advertise for necessary kindergarten furniture for about 30 children. The furniture is earmarked for kindergarten classes to be opened in the Tullytown Methodist Church.

The Board reviewed proofs of murals painted by Walt Disney for the school named after him. School children will select the murals they like best today. The finished paintings will hang in the Little Theater when the building is completed.

The two newly-elected school board members, Benjamin Kline and Roger Witt, attended the meeting last night. They will be officially installed at the Dec. 8 meeting.

School Board Votes 'No' In Debate Over Vocational School

Bristol School Board decided last night not to participate in the proposed Bucks County Vocational School.

The action was taken on the recommendation of Norman H. Ryan, vice-president of the board and chairman of the school committee.

"The board at this time does not feel that they would be in a position to participate," Ryan said. "We feel that there is a possibility for such a school, but we are not in a position now, with our

2 Youths Fined For Playing With Boat Along River

DOYLESTOWN — Two Frankford youths, Robert Schwartz, 18, 4511 Mulberry street and Raymond Reeder, 18, 1927 John street, who pleaded guilty to malicious mischief which consisted of "fooling around with a student's boat in the Delaware River," were ordered by Judge Edward G. Biester to pay from $25 and costs of $24.75 each.

James R. Youngken, a Penn Ryn Episcopal School student, testified his $55 boat was moored in the river Aug. 23 and that after the two youths got into it, then drove from it and untied it, permitting it to drift down the river. The outboard propeller was dented because of the stones on the bed of the river, he said.

Schwartz, a Northeast Catholic High School graduate, and Reeder testified they were members of a swimming party.

Examined By Judge

"The other boys, four or five of them, stayed sitting on the wharf but Raymond and I swam out into the river and fooled around with the boat for fun," Schwartz testified.

Judge Biester cross-examined them.

Former Bensalem Township Police Chief George H. Rentz, who arrested the two youths, said Reeder swam away from the boat but Schwartz remained as the officer approached it.

"Stay Out of County"

President Judge Hiram H. Keller told the two youths to tell their Northeast Philadelphia friends to stay out of Bucks County and away from the boats and boathouses along the Delaware river, because quite a number of boys have been sent to the penitentiary and jail because they came up here to steal motors and boats.

Community Chest Drive Extended For Rest of Month

The campaign of the Bucks County Community Chest has been extended through November, C. Burnley White, fund drive chairman announced today.

The drive for $299,420 will be continued this month because "this big and vital job is not yet completed," White told a group of campaign leaders.

"Much progress has been made and reported to date," White said. "Still results are coming in slower than we expected."

"I ask every campaign official and worker to redouble efforts to secure the needed donations. This year's goal can still be attained if every volunteer does his or her part and every prospect gives as generously as possible."

White asked for faster action in the solicitation of firms. He said many firms already solicited had failed to report. The work of Paul Pinto, assistant campaign manager representing the CIO, and Emil K. Lucas, representing the AFL, was applauded by White. He said both men have been active in assisting other labor leaders and groups to take part in the drive.

Board Has Eyes On Hospital Area For Use As Park

Residents Battle Zoning Charge From R-1 to C

Bristol Township Commissioners last night agreed to study the possibility of starting condemnation proceedings on tracts of land along Bath road in the vicinity of the Lower Bucks County Hospital and Silver Lake for park purposes.

The proposal came from Commissioner Oscar Booz after several residents of the area protested an appeal for a zoning change from R-1 residential to C commercial in the area requested by Nathan Grodsky and Samuel Rosen of Bristol.

Rosen said he and Grodsky had plans for construction of a shopping center on the site to contain 10 stores and a large parking area. Commissioners turned down the appeal.

Voice Disapproval

George Fisher of Orchard avenue, Mrs. Harry Gough of Newport street, Bristol Township, and half a dozen other persons voiced disapproval of the proposed zone change.

Mrs. Gough said residents wanted to keep the area in the vicinity of the hospital free from commercialization. Another resident said a parking lot and its attendant honking at the proposed shopping center would be a nuisance to hospital patients.

Township Solicitor Robert Baker was asked to study and report what procedures were involved in condemnation proceedings.

Change Rejected

The board also rejected a proposal to change a 62-acre tract of land on Bristol pike, below the cemetery, from R-1 residential to M-1 manufacturing.

Two ordinances providing for lighting in Stonybrook, Greenbrook and Farmbrook sections of Levittown were passed at last night's session. Installation of the lights will be handled by Philadelphia Electric Company.

The ordinance provides the money to pay for the expense of maintenance of the lights will be obtained by assessment of the property benefitting from the lights. The assessment rate per foot of frontage for 1953 will be two-tenths of a cent.

Listing Revised

An ordinance, changing two tracts of land along Route 413 near Rockdale from R-2 residential to C-commercial was passed. A third tract in the same section was changed from R-1 residential to C-commercial.

John Paglione, chairman of the property committee, reported progress in locating a site for a proposed new borough elementary school. The school would have 18 classrooms, two kindergarten rooms, a cafeteria, all-purpose room, and offices.

The property committee is conferring with engineers on the replacement of heating system boilers in the high school building. The work would be done next summer. Renovation of the athletic field turf at the end of the fall season was approved. The possible rebuilding of the girls' hockey field was discussed.

Snowfall Won't Last--He Says

Lower Bucks County had its first snow of the season today, but don't worry about polishing your sled runners or digging the snow shovel out from behind the lawn mower, just yet.

The Trenton weather man is dubious if the season's first snow flurries will last. He predicts that the skies will clear tonight.

However, he does recommend getting out the woolen blankets and thick quilts, in case you didn't take them out of moth balls for last night's cold snap. He said it will be colder to night.

Saturday and Sunday promise to be good days for burning the last of the leaves and putting on the storm windows. The weather man foretells fair and moderately cold weather for both days.

State Trooper Keith R. Dane, witness for the Commonwealth, testified raiders found $210 behind a counter and 48 horse plays. About 8 or 10 persons were in the garage at the time of the raid, he said.

Police Marshal and a member of the company.

Yesterday afternoon the Eddington, Cornwells and Union fire companies put out a field fire on Forest avenue, west of Brown avenue. The fire was caused by burning rubbish.

Abandoning the drill, the company rushed across the city line to White Hill Farms development, Red Lion and Knight road, and found three workmen trapped in a grass fire. The firemen used their booster tank, Indian tanks and brooms to make a swath through the flames and rescue the trio unharmed.

The firemen then concentrated their efforts on protecting three houses on Crestmont Farms development, which were threatened by the flames. Philadelphia fire companies from Holmesburg and Bustleton, also on a drill when the fire broke out, arrived after the Eddington firemen and helped complete the job. The city firemen were at Northeast Airport when they received a box alarm.

The Eddington Fire Co. was commanded by Philadelphia fire department officials for their handling of the blaze, according to Robert Bremer, Bucks County Fire

Levitt School Plan Gets School Board Approval

Breathe Deeply, Please

STUDENTS AT RICHBORO Elementary School had a physical examination yesterday. Pupils are examined every two years. Dr. Blaine Garner, 309 Washington avenue, Newtown, did the honors. Lining up for inspection were John Stewart, Bristol road, Southampton; Edwin Wheeler, Bridgeport pike, Langhorne, and Charles Stryker, Bustleton pike, Richboro.

Okay is Subject To Final Word From Harrisburg

The Bristol Township School Board last night tentatively approved Levitt and Sons, Inc., final plans for building two 20-room elementary schools which will be leased to the township for 20 years. School Directors made their approval subject to approval of the plans by the State Department of Public Instruction.

At the same time they approved provisionally the lease which in 20 years time would bring ownership of the schools to the school district. Approval was made subject to approval by School Board Solicitor John P. Betz of Bristol and the State Department of Education.

Rental Set

Under the terms of the lease the school district would pay an annual rental of $38,000 and after 20 years receive ownership of the schools.

The schools would be built for $500,000 each by a non-profit corporation to be known as the Levittown Educational Foundation. Approval from the County courts at Doylestown of the corporation is expected Monday. Attorney James Sutton, counsel for Levitt told the School Board.

School Board members appeared to hesitate taking action on the plans and the lease. They were urged by Harry Kalish, one of Levitt's representatives, to take immediate tentative action, because "time was of the essence."

Building Must Begin

It was indicated if Levitt is to have the schools built by the start of next September, construction would have to begin before freezing weather set in.

Before the plans and lease received tentative approval School Director Howard Taylor urged other members to consider the step carefully.

He indicated that the County School Board had received a number of letters from unions protesting Levitt's proposed school construction.

What if they decide to walk out on the other school projects?

Describes Schools

Oliver H. Marron, architect for Levitt, was present to describe the proposed schools. They will be of block construction with brick siding. The classrooms will be 22 by 44 feet and each will have its own lavatory. Each room will also have its own ventilating and heating system. The schools will be built on concrete slabs, covered with asphalt tiling in the corridors and classrooms.

Two Wings

The classrooms will be in two wings which will extend from a central structure housing administration offices, kitchen, and all-purpose room.

Prior to this Robert Micklewright of Micklewright-Mountford Fallington architects, discussed preliminary plans of the 20-room Lafayette elementary school which will be constructed on lands adjacent to Delhaas High School. Total cost of the school will be $892,000.

Woman Removed To Her Home After Street Collapse

Mrs. William Barnett, about 70, of Herman street, Feasterville, collapsed at 4:50 p.m. yesterday on Midfield street, Feasterville, when she suffered a stroke. She was taken to her home by the Trevoe Heights Rescue Squad.

Transported by the Bucks County Rescue Squad were Charles Brady, of 918 Excelsior avenue, Croydon, to his home from Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia; Michael Dufner, of Bowman avenue, Cornwells Heights, to Nazareth Hospital; Mrs. Harriet Dasenborg, Walnut avenue, Huimeville, to Jeannet Hospital, Philadelphia, and Mrs. Ethel Smith, 827 Linton avenue, Croydon, to Nazareth Hospital. Bucks squadmen administered oxygen to Mrs. Peter Devine, Avenue D, Parkland, and Mrs. Arthur C. Ludwig, of 641 New Buckley street, Bristol.

The Bristol Blood Donors Emergency Squad took Yolanda Venere, of Lafayette street, from the scene of an accident at Pond and Washington streets, Bristol, to Bristol General Hospital.

Bonfires Burn Up Langhorne Council ---Not for Long

Word has been received of the death of Ronald Telfer, well-known actor and director, who died in Syracuse, N. Y.

Mr. Telfer, a resident member of a Syracuse Production Co., was a member of Bucks County Playhouse this past summer. He had roles in "Gigi", "Country Girl" and several other New Hope productions.

The ruling, which goes into effect immediately, forbids the burning of leaves on paved streets within the borough. According to William J. Palmer, secretary of the council, the bituminous topping on the streets and highways has been melting from too much leaf burning. When the tar melts, a hole is formed in the street or pavement, and must be repaired. "The whole road structure is weakened by the holes," said Palmer.

In further business, a bid submitted by Kaufman Brothers, for drainage installation on Station avenue, was accepted by the Council. Work is expected to begin shortly.

A special meeting of the Council Monday night was announced by President Paul B. Bennett. At that time, bids for a $20,000 general obligation coupon bonds will be accepted.

Jangling Telephones Kill Peace And Quiet

By Inez Robb

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—(INS) — Man wants but little here below, and what he wants mainly is peace and quiet. And a fat chance he has of getting even a little of that!

It is my sincere belief that the first political party strongly to support the fifth freedom — freedom from annoyance — will win in a walk in 1956. Of course, the possibility that the public longs to be free from the annoyance of and by politicians might, in a pinch tend to nullify the foregoing statement.

These long, long thoughts have been induced recently by a series of nuisance calls that has left me scarce able to control my urge to tear the telephone out by the roots.

The telephone is a noble instrument, and Don Ameche did well to invent it. It puts man in instant touch with the ends of the earth or the bridge partner next door. It is now an institution on a par with matrimony—people can't live with it or without it. It is an essential as love and as prone to drive people stark, raving nuts.

It is now obvious that man has to take the bitter with the better so far as the phone is concerned. The trouble is that in my ballwick recently, there has been nothing but the bitter.

I don't know how it is in your precinct, but in mine solicitation by telephone for everything from magazine subscriptions to charitable contributions have increased thousand-fold in the past year. The result is that I am still sitting all alone by the telephone because no one I know, no friend, no relative, ever has a chance to break through the sound barrier.

Commercial competition keeps the instrument hot, and me, too. Fools rush in where angels fear to hang up.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Fulton Lewis, Jr.
(Copyright, 1953,
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6 — There probably are only a relatively few Americans who realize how close we came to handing the atomic bomb over to Soviet Russia, lock, stock and barrel.

The Communists have nearly achieved the same end through espionage and outright international thievery. But a new book points up just how close we came, only a few years ago, to falling for the mauldering importunities of a small but vocal group of scientists and Left-wingers who would have sold out the bomb to Russia completely.

The thought is so horrifying that many of us tend to push it far back in our minds and try to forget it. To all so inclined, I recommend "The Secret War for the A-Bomb," by Medford Evans, published by the Henry Regnery Company. It shows clearly how close we were pushed to the brink of disaster after World War II.

Medford Evans, the author, was on the inside and knows whereof he speaks. He joined the atomic project in 1945 as "organization and methods examiner" at Oak Ridge, and subsequently was transferred to Washington as chief of training for the entire AEC. He resigned in March, 1952, when he found his security recommendations were being ignored or disregarded.

Once an English professor at the University of Chattanooga, Evans now is dean of McMurry College at Abilene, Tex., and hence cannot be assailed by left-wingers as an incompetent or "screw-ball." Thus far, the pro-communist, left-wing clique which embraces a majority of the nation's ranking book-reviewers is giving his work the play upon, influenced and in some cases controlled by ideas which have been initiated by the communist and soviet interests."

"This has been possible not because of the excessively large number of disciplined communists," he says, "but because of the excessive vitality of many sections of the population to communist influence . . . physical scientists, in particular physicists, seem to have, or to have had, a peculiar affinity for contemporary communism."

Physical scientists also seem to have had—and as far as I can see, still have—a violent antipathy for any effort to check on their loyalty to the United States of America. A few short years ago, when some of us were complaining bitterly about the lack of atomic security, they were the loudest in declaiming that science could not be subjected to bounds of security.

Dr. Evans' book shows why we were fully justified in answering that one, "nuts!"

Letters To The Editor

Thanks

TO THE EDITOR:

On Saturday, Sept. 5, 1953, on Bristol pike, near Walnut avenue, Andalusia, I was involved in an automobile accident, in which I was severely injured.

It is my desire to publicly thank all the kind and gracious people in the vicinity, who rendered assistance to me before the arrival of the ambulance.

This may seem a little belated thanks, but it is only recently that I am recovering from my injuries.

Place Names In Bucks County

Bristol Township

Located in the extreme southeastern part of the county, bounded northeast by Middletown and Falls, northeast by Falls, southeast by Delaware River, southwest by Neshaminy Creek, which separates it from Bensalem.

A sprinkling of Swedes and Dutch, mostly land lessees whose tenure was short, preceded the Quakers as early settlers. The Quakers were ascendant for a period longer than a century, when a shifting in population reduced their proportionate numbers. Some of the English settlers were there before William Penn came. Several very early landowners, as Thomas Holme, the surveyor, never lived there, and their tracts in the course of a decade or two were parcelled and sold to actual settlers.

Between Buckingham, Bucks, New Bristol and Bristol, the township was well supplied with names in its primitive days. Both township and town of Bristol were first generally called Buckingham, although the town must have been known as Bristol some years before it was adopted as the corporate name in 1720. General Davis says the township is mentioned as "New Buckingham" in Friends' Meeting minutes as late as 1705. This is an error. The record referred to by General Davis is found in the minutes of Bucks Quarterly Meeting, as follows: "Falls Monthly Meeting proposed the building a meeting house at New Buckingham, which the meeting approved." This action related to a request, not name, New Bristol, could therefore not have applied to a place that had no existence. Again, the Board of Property of the Province of Pennsylvania, created by William Penn November 21, 1686, recognized New Bristol as the township's name, and it is so recorded on the pages of the Board's Minute Book G. (1701-1709). New Bristol may have been adopted as the name for the Bucks County township to officially distinguish it from Bristol Township in Philadelphia County. Very soon, by common consent apparently, the word New was dropped, and the name became Bristol Township.

In this township a mile above Bristol Borough was located the celebrated Bloomsdale Ferry and Ferry House, the house being popularly known among travelers in coaching days as the Old Stone Tavern. It is said to have been a charming old Colonial building.

The ferry figured importantly in the manoeuvres of General Washington's army in the campaign late in 1776. Here, too, Vice President Aaron Burr crossed the Delaware in his flight southward two days after he had slain Alexander Hamilton in a duel at Weehawken July 11, 1804. The date when the ferry was established is uncertain. It first appears on record in the deed of transfer of the land to Christian Minnick in 1770 (Letter of Captain Burnet Landreth to Adjutant General William S. Stryker, of Trenton, N. J., published in the Daily Democrat, Doylestown, Jan. 29, 1895). For some years thereafter it was known as Minnick's Ferry. Lewis Leopold Notagle, who purchased it in 1795, changed its name to Bloomsdale. It was discontinued in 1840, by which time other craft than ferry boats had almost wholly absorbed river traffic.

"Righteousness exalteth a nation but sin is a reproach to any people" — Proverbs 14:14.

Religion is national in its influence. Although we stress the separation of church and state in this country, the vast influence of the church upon our national life cannot be denied. Furthermore, we are much better as a people because of that influence.

President Eisenhower has quoted a visitor to this country from France in two major addresses in the past year. In essence, the visitor said: "I did not understand America's greatness until I went into her churches. America is great because her churches are great."

None of us would want to see the churches removed from our communities. Our nation's morality would soon be lowered should that happen. The proverb quoted above is as pertinent today as it was in the day when Solomon added it to his collection. Righteousness in every sphere of public life will exalt this nation. However, sin will be a reproach to us.

Religion in national life will be only as effective as you and I make it. Christian leadership is a big step in the direction of this nation becoming a Christian nation. Right living must not be confined to a day in the week or to a place set apart for worship.

Members were informed that the drama group has disbanded due to lack of interest. Report of county federation fall meetings was given by Mrs. Karl Crooks.

The new meeting hour is to be eight p. m., hereafter.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. William Milroy and her committee.

Radio Stars Donate Parcel Post Items

Stars of radio and television have mailed parcel post packages to Levittown Woman's Club for their bazaar scheduled for tomorrow at Bristol Farmers Market, Durham and Rogers road.

These packages, as well as several from abroad, will be sold at auction. Others will be sold at stipulated sums.

Booths which are being set up will be filled with candies, canned goods, doll clothing, needlework items; home made pies, cakes, cookies and candy; corsages and house plants; also "white elephants". These items have been made by club members.

Decorating will be in charge of the men, namely W. David Price, Harry Conn, James Davies and William Link. The general chairman of the function is Mrs. William Morgan.

Proceeds of this event are to be turned over to the Lower Bucks County Hospital completion fund.

The hours for the bazaar are 12 noon to midnight.

CLEVELAND - POLLARD
Announcements has been made of the marriage of Miss Naomi Pollard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Junius Pollard, Bristol Terrace, to Mr. Henry R. Cleveland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Cleveland of Florence, N. J. The Rev. E. S. Dennis officiated at the ceremony at his home, 319 Wilson street, Oct. 25.

MRS. E. WILMER FISHER will speak on "The Meaning of Federation" when she appears at the meeting of the Junior Travel Club Nov. 12. Mrs. Fisher, a resident of Morrisville, is past president of Morrisville Woman's Club and immediate past president of Bucks County Federation of Women's Clubs.

God-Given Order Is Given Emphasis
"Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old, he will not depart from it" is the most fundamental and God-given command necessary to the proper raising of children today," according to Mrs. William A. Painter who addressed the parent-teacher night for nursery and kindergarten departments in Calvary Baptist Sunday School, Wednesday.

Refreshments were served amid yellow and white decorations.

Favors were candy-filled baskets and paper hats and horns.

Guests were Judith Allen, Stella Francis, Nancy Keller, Patricia Bowman, Jerry Lynn Rowe, Lorrie Abum, John Allen, Jr., Edward Bowman, Eric Weinkoff, Kirby Surnehart, Harry Keller, Bruce Rowe, Gene Lyons, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Sanford, Mr. and Mrs. George Thorn, Bristol Terrace.

PRESNTATION OF THANKS WILL PRECEDE LUNCHEON
Corporate communion will be held at 9:30 a. m. Novembe 12 in St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Newtown, by members of the afternoon branch of the Ladies Auxiliary, at which time the United Thank Offering will be presented.

The Auxiliary will meet Nov. 11 at 10 a. m. in St. Luke's House for sewing and the making of dressings for Bucks Co. Branch, American Cancer Society, under direction of Miss Jessie Wilson and Mrs. Lloyd Wilson.

Lower Bucks County League football will have a new look in 1954, and apparently it will be all for the better.

Schedule-makers in the conference have decided to block out the final eight weeks of the season for strict league play. That means that between the first or second weekend in October down through Thanksgiving Day league teams will play nothing but league games.

Teams with the habit of wandering frequently into extra-fraternity activity will have to consolidate their inter-league commitments at the head of the season or in the normal resting week between the middle of November and Thanksgiving Day.

Whatever the purpose behind the block system schedule, it certainly will serve to eliminate early climaxes as were prevalent this Fall. For example, there will be none of the business of Pennsbury and Neshaminy opening the season at each others' throats.

That happened this campaign and produced an easy to watch shooting match. Neshaminy won, 24-20, and has breezed from that heavy opener right into a clinched title tie with the league not yet in the homestretch. Whether a later date between the two would have altered the outcome is a moot and irrelevant question. The fact is, though, that a later clash between a pair of unbeatens might have nursed league interest along for a few additional weeks.

LAST SATURDAY night Delhaas and Morrisville, two fair country ball clubs that went to the Neshaminy-Pennsbury chopping block early in the year, met in a genuinely enjoyable ball game. The surroundings were Morrisville's well-kept athletic plant, probably the league's finest. A chap named Jack Scullin, who lends scholastic football a professional air with his well-paced announcing was manning the PA coop. And it was a perfect night for football, topcoat-cool and crisp.

Yet, fewer than 300 persons turned up simply because neither team had set the world, or the league, afire in earlier games.

Most LBCL schools have interesting playmates from other sectors on their enemy list. Bensalem, for example, plays the likes of Pennridge, the current Buxmont rage, Central Bucks, P. S. D. and Lower Moreland. Morrisville attracted East Stroudsburg out of the hills this year and met Jenkintown, Upper Moreland and will play Hamilton of Trenton.

Bristol put on a good show in collaboration with Souderton this year, met Hatboro and its traditional cross-river rival from Burlington.

Games like those do much for the conference. They serve as a measuring stick against which improvement in the rapidly growing organization can be indexed. Yet, they certainly will serve a better purpose at the head of the schedule.

#1 BRISTOL, FOR EXAMPLE, is called upon to grapple Burlington in its first, second, or third game, the Warriors will work especially hard to get into quick condition. That condition will serve them well as the league campaign gets underway.

On the other hand, in some cases teams with rookies in the cast will be given the opportunity to serve their apprenticeship without jeopardizing league chances.

Officials and coaches of the conference are to be congratulated for their foresight in blocking off a section of the schedule for league play only. Their ruling may have thrown scheduling difficulties on some members temporarily, but will benefit all hands and the league as a league in time.

CORNER SHOTS . . . for those who thought it couldn't happen here . . . a Philadelphian, fishing Churchville reservoir several weeks ago, took a largemouth weighing six pounds, 13 ounces and another that weighed four pounds, five ounces . . . What are LBCL all-league team selectors going to do about the Dave Bray situation? On talent the boy belongs, but his record shows that injuries kept him out of two full games and all but three minutes of a third . . . Does he rate a berth, what with the likes of Cecil Morris, Council Rock; Joe Moronese, Neshaminy; Larry Cohen, Bristol; Fran Osborne, Delhaas; Al Parker and Charles Sciolli, Bensalem; Frank Pesce, Morrisville, and Bray's teammate, Mike Baldovski, contending for the last two backfield slots? Neshaminy's Ken Kauffman and Don Cameron are, or should be, cinch selections . . . if he rounds into shape in time, look for Stew Tomkins, erstwhile LaSalle performer now with Levittown AA, to be among the standouts of the Lower Bucks County Athletic Conference basketball loop.

Owls, Tigers in Top Game

Two appealing football attractions, including one with champion-ship implications, are on tap tomorrow for Lower Bucks County.

In the No. 1 game by any standard Bensalem and Delhaas Highs collide on borrowed Bristol High

Redskins Engage Jenkintown, Gun For 17th in Row

Neshaminy High's 16-game football victory skein will face a genuine test tonight when the Redskins trot out against Jenkintown High in a non-league 8:15 tussle at home in Langhorne.

The visiting Ganders may prove docile enough, but Lower Bucks County League observers will have an eye to the audience that turns out. There has long been a suspicion in these parts that only winners would attract this sector's scholastic fans. How many fans an all-winner will be able to lure out in freezing weather will prove an interesting index to all hands.

And speaking of hands, Neshaminy may find itself landlocked if frozen fingers undo its vaunted passing game. A Neshaminy team throws on the mercy of its spotty overland game may or may not set the world on fire.

Jenkintown 4-1-1

The Redskins will find themselves confronted with a team that surrendered to the Lower Bucks County League's Morrisville, 26-0, in an opener, then came back to win four and tie one. Jenkintown, along the way, has rolled up some impressive tallies.

The Ganders topped Upper Dublin, 26-6; Collegeville, 20-12; Southampton of the LBCL, 33-19, and Schwenksville, 46-19. They tied Lower Moreland in a wild 26-26 battle after the Morelands had been victimized by a redhot Neshaminy, 55-26.

On their records, tonight's antagonists might be expected to hack away at a real scoring duel, let the chips fall where they may. Yet, there is little doubt that biting cold weather will take its toll. Indeed, since the cold is expected to produce brittleness, Coach Harry Franks may be reluctant to unveil some of his half-healthy Redskins.

It is no secret that the Tribe has been in a bad way physically, and perhaps psychologically over the past two weeks. It went against cantankerous Bristol with ace backs Ken Kauffman and Don Cameron limping and was forced to use them for a 14-12 victory. Neither was up to snuff last week when the Indians trudged past Southampton, 18-12, in another near upset. There was wear and tear in that game, too.

Moronese Shines

Meanwhile, durable Joe Moronese, a solid sophomore, has been the unsung backfield hero for the Franksmen. His running against both the last two victims has been game-saving. And he may be called upon to wear the yoke again tonight.

The game will serve as one of two tuneups for Neshaminy before its Thanksgiving Day showdown with Bensalem, last hurdle on its way to a clear league title. The Bennies, meanwhile, will have to get by both Delhaas tomorrow and Bristol next week to figure at all. They have been defeated by Pennsbury.

LBCAC Reopens Cage Membership

The Lower Bucks County Athletic Conference elected a slate of officers to guide its basketball league, laid down by-laws for the circuit and re-opened it for 1953-54 membership at an important meeting last night in the Rohm and Haas Clubhouse, Bristol.

Chosen president by the group was J. J. Gouza, Rohm and Haas representative under whose guidance the conference got its start six weeks ago. Gouza, along with David Landreth, elected vice president last night, had been serving as temporary co-chairmen of the infant organization.

Supporting officers for the court loop will be Ralph Howell, Levittown, the secretary, and John Franks, treasurer. Franks is secretary of the Bristol-Lower Bucks Chamber of Commerce.

CIO Drops Out

Re-opening of the league for membership for the upcoming season was brought about by the withdrawal of the Lower Bucks County CIO. The labor group had been expected to enter a team, but a representative of the group told the meeting last night that more time was needed to secure sponsorship of a sports team. He indicated interest in future sports participation in the LBCAC.

Meanwhile, the status of the Penn-Del Aces was questionable. The team was not represented at the meeting last night and efforts to contact team leaders by telephone failed.

Originally, teams were expected to deposit $50 of the $150 entry fee with the league last night. However, in view of CIO's withdrawal and the mystery surrounding Penn-Del's entry, the group decided to set next Thursday as deadline for entries. At the same time, it threw open the membership to any Lower Bucks County organization, industry or community interested in a berth in the conference. Representatives of any such clubs are asked to appear at the Thursday meeting at 7:30 at the clubhouse with the necessary $50 deposit.

Review By-Laws

The gathering reviewed a list of by-laws tentatively suggested by Gouza in a past meeting, and after heated discussion, passed them with few revisions.

It was decided that industrial teams in the league be permitted to use any players employed at the firms before a date to be determined.

TEMPLE 11 ON WAY TO TILT WITH YALE

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — The surprising Temple Owls who battled powerful Bainbridge to a 7-7 tie last week left the home campus today for New Haven for their first meeting in history with Yale.

Coach Al Dawal scheduled a workout this afternoon in the Yale Bowl to put final touches on the aerial attack his charges have worked up for the Bulldogs. Yale was defeated in the air last week by Dartmouth.

WFST CHESTER FAVORED TO STRETCH WIN SKIN

WEST CHESTER, Pa. — (INS) — West Chester Teachers was favored to take their seventh straight game tonight against Millersville Teachers on Wayne Field in their last home game of the season.

The Rams, defending champions of the State Teachers College conference trophy, could clinch the crown with tonight's victory.

Limping Falcons Meet Hamilton On Jersey Field

Pennsbury High crossed the bridge to Trenton this afternoon to face Hamilton High with a crew of cripples and a patched up lineup.

The outlook wasn't brilliant for the Lower Bucks County League Falcons, who hoped to win their sixth decision in eight games and erase the memory of 12-12 tie with lowly Council Rock last week.

Coach Jim Egli's men faced combat without the services of star halfbacks Mickey Bray, Jim Bazow and Dan Felver and guard Ray Hill. Others on the squad were expected to see only limited service against the Hornets, first of two N. J. schools on Pennsbury's tailend schedule.

In the absence of his top trio of halfbacks, Egli was expected to start Mort Caffey, Mike Baldovski and Tom MacMillan with Paul Giordano taking over at quarterback. MacMillan, a sureshot passer, is ordinarily the signalman in the Pennsbury T, but has been used to advantage in running roles.

Big Lines

Both teams took heavy lines into the 3 p. m. game with Hamilton holding an edge. Pennsbury showed Averill Queen, 155 pounds, and John Settelen, 140, at ends; Ron Pope, 170, and Ken Tigar, 202; at tackles; Bill Duff, 150 and Jack White, 170, at guards with 190-pound Guy Curtis at center.

For the Hornets Harold Dyous, 180, and Paul Raho, 195, were the ends; Ron Vernon, 178 and Jack Chrisner, 190, the tackles; Jim Kolzer, 165 and Lou Musciatti, 185, the guards and Vince Savelli, 188, the center.

In the Hamilton backfield were Bill Booz, Tony Marant, Jack Hutchinson and Walt Fajiger. That quartet has led Hamilton to its two wins in six tests this year and was especially effective when the Hornets lost, 21-20, in a heartbreaker with Trenton High last week.

That setback and Pennsbury's unexpected tie with Council Rock furnished both teams with ample incentive. The Falcons, however, had even more to fight for. They still remember a 49-0 shellacking handed them by the Hornets last year.

NESHAMINY DISTRICT

The Neshaminy High School Band will feature a spherical color guard drill and drum majorette routine, while the majorettes will display sparklet batons for the first time at their school's football meeting with Jenkintown this evening at 8:15 on Neshaminy H. S. field.

The color sergeant is Lorraine Keen, Langhorne Terrace, and head majorette is Sally Hall Pennel.

Another feature of the half-time period will be the band's use of their cap-lights as they form the traditional "N". This lighted figure has become a popular feature since its instigation at the Bristol-Neshaminy game.

The Neshaminy and Jenkintown bands will combine in the opening ceremonies to form a 90 piece marching unit.

Word from various colleges brings news about recent Neshaminy high school graduates.

Edward Murray, Middletown twp., a 1952 June graduate, is now attending Lafayette College where he has been excused from Freshman English on the basis of his high grades in that school's placement examinations. Gary Latham, Middletown twp., now a student at Penn State, received the same honors at that institution. Edward Kornowski, Middletown, a 1952 graduate was elected to Penn State marching band this fall and was part of the contingent that visited Franklin Field in October in his school's football meeting with the University of Penna.

Donald Leitch, Langhorne Manor, of the 1952 class, received freshman honors at special exercises held at Lehigh University recently.

Other notices bring word that Joan Herrmann, Middletown twp., a Bucknell senior, is a honor student; while Joan Brostrom, Middletown twp., has received honors at Beaver College, Jenkintown.

Barbara Tatlow, Parkland, a former honor student at Beaver, has transferred to Wheaton College in Ill.

DELTA HIGH

A one-half-hour radio program entitled "How the Industrial Boom has Affected Education in Lower Bucks County" will be presented at 11 a. m. Saturday on stations WBUX, WNAR, WFLN, and then again on WFLN at 2 p. m. Sunday.

The program has been developed and produced by sociology classes under the direction of Miss Ivy Foley. Participating are Joan Anderson, Donald Ritter, Lee Polk, Robert Shettles, Beverly Swan, Eileen Kling, Helen Morison, Joseph Klein, and Rose Coulter. The program was written by Helen Morison, Margaret McCauley, and Eileen Kling. The program was supervised by Joyce Curry.

Plans for a spaghetti dinner, a penny carnival, and a cake walk are being talked over by girls in the senior Tri-Hi-Y. Committees.

Poor Circulation?
HERE'S WHAT YOU CAN DO ABOUT IT!

Sufferers will be glad to learn that amazing new scientific pulsators have been developed that will help poor circulation. A few minutes daily use will help relieve painful limb cramps, numbness, cold feet and other circulatory ailments. Note that the devices are wonderful for relieving nervous tension and fatigue.

No electricity enters the body. Operation is similar to equipment built by same manufacturers for hospitals, institutions, etc.

One-Act Plays

The Delhaas Theatre Guild, which meets on Wednesday evenings at the high school, is busy preparing a series of short one-act comedies for production in the near future.

Annually, West Chester State Teachers College holds a career conference for prospective teachers. Six seniors—Betty McCullen, Audrey Taylor, Betty Taylor, George Manley, Richard Smith and Wayne Zarr—made the trip with Thomas J. Jenkins, guidance counselor.

Photographs of 130 seniors and 75 faculty members at Delhaas have been taken for the yearbook, Torch, which is scheduled to appear in early spring.

PRESS ASSOCIATION Miss Ivy Foley, publications advisor, took 17 staff members to the Pennsylvania School Press Association.

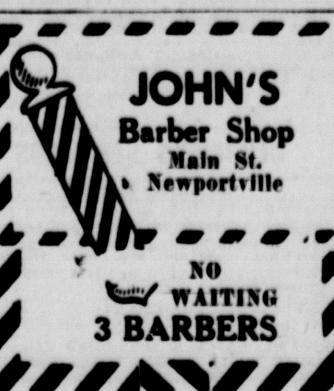

Three seniors—Audrey Taylor, William Wallace and Wayne Zarr

—have entered essays in the National High School Essay Association's annual contest. Supervising is J. E. Sparks, head of the English department.

Twenty-two commercial English Seniors are participating in a Western Union telegram contest for "Happy Birthday" messages. Original wishes in 25 words or less were written by Barbara Bastock, Nancy Bley, JoAnn Bosco, Nancy Brace, Sandra Bromiley, Audrey Carango, Rose Coulter, Maryann Dewsnap, Shirley Dillon, Phyllis Handley, Norma Harker, Anita Pezzullo, Lee Polk, Jackie Reber, Mary Lou Reitz, June Ritter, Betty Jane Roberts, Jeannine Roehm, Agnes Simeone, Alice Mae Simon, Marion Swenson and Joan Weisser.

BARGAIN BUYS IN TRUCKS

From light delivery to heavy hauling, there's a Chevrolet truck to fit your needs.

Be ahead on price!

Chevrolet trucks are America's lowest priced truck line! It's easy to find a truck that costs more, but nowhere else will you find all the advanced features, all the thrifty power, all the ruggedness and durability you get in a Chevrolet Advance-Design truck. It's the biggest truck bargain your dollars can buy!

Be ahead on operating costs!

Chevrolet trucks bring you big gas savings. Both the mighty Loadmaster engine on heavy-duty models and the rugged Thriftmaster engine on light- and medium-duty models squeeze more miles out of every gallon of gas. In addition, extra ruggedness in all Chevrolet trucks means lower upkeep costs.

Be ahead on trade-in!

You're ahead with low first cost . . . you're ahead with low operating costs . . . and you're dollars ahead again when it's time to trade! That's because Chevrolet trucks traditionally command a higher trade-in value. It's another big advantage you get with Chevrolet trucks and Chevrolet trucks alone!

Buy no truck until you get our deal!

Save money now on a money-saving truck! See how little it will cost you to own a thrifty new Chevrolet truck that's just right for your job. Pick your model . . . pocket your savings.

ELIZABETH WOODWARD SAYS:

Stop Your Rebelling And Face Reality

"DEAR MISS WOODWARD" I know I'm only 15, and Van's only 16, but we really and truly do love each other. My dad and my aunts and uncles all say we're too young to know what it's all about. Dad liked Van until one of my aunts, who is jealous because her daughter has no boy friend, made up a wild story about us that isn't true. She has my parents convinced and they won't even listen to Van and me. They want us to break up. But they don't know that we are secretly engaged. Van is all for eloping, but I know that's wrong. What else can we do?"

The two of you are wildly rebelling against your family's disrupting of your young love. You're both struggling against their authority to have your own way. You've protested your innocence to no avail. So why not face the fact that it's the way things are, and decide between you that the following is the best course for you to follow.

Your family has laid down some laws, so you're really nothing else to do but obey. A reasonable willingness to cooperate with your parents may convince them that you're more mature than they thought. A slight vacation from Van won't do either of you any harm, incidentally.

It would quiet down the storm raised by your aint. It would give you time to work quietly and cautiously at convincing your family that her story was false. It will give you a chance to practice some self-control to organize your emotions. And will help both you and Van to find out if your devotion to each other is as deep as you think it is.

Being separated may dampen your ardor for each other, and it may not. Later on, should you find your affection for each other still strong, your family may then decide that you're old enough to be that serious about Van. A little mature patience is the only way to cope with things as they are now.

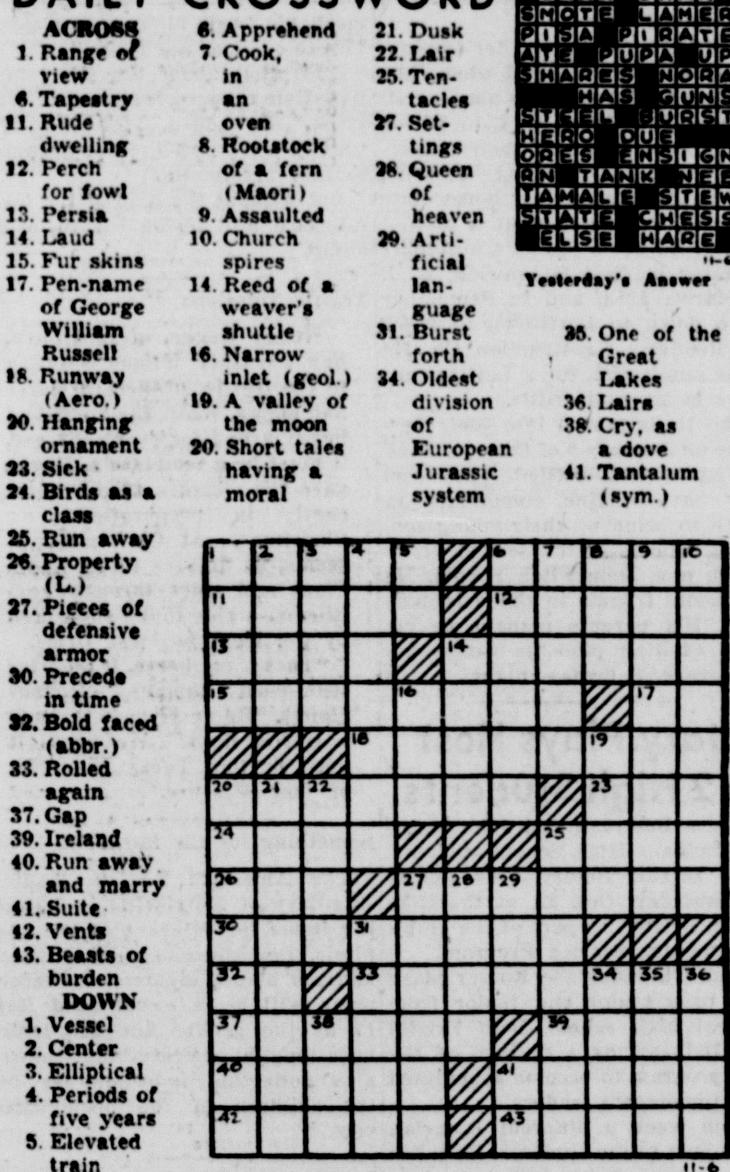

"DEAR MISS WOODWARD: We've had many arguments, and always made up, but I'm afraid this last one is really the last one. I see him around, but he never tries to make up. When he breaks up with a girl, he won't speak to her. And that's what's hurting me now. He was one of my closest friends and I can't stand having him go by without even saying 'hello'. I'm not in love with him, but I would like to talk things up. Have you any advice?"

He's acting true to form in not talking to you these days. It's the way he is when he's on the outs with a girl. What can you possibly do to change things? Nothing much, except wait until he gets over this final curtain act of his. It's on purpose to show you he's through. When he's sure you're sure, he's likely to start speaking again. That's just the way he is.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
I S L O N G F E L L O W

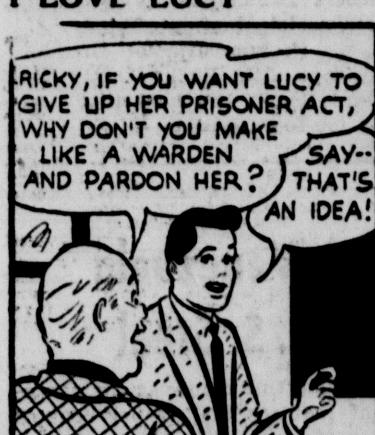

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Complex, Modern Sewerage Facilities Serve New Residents of Growing Levittown Sections

By Charles Walton

Designed to provide service for more than 60,000 persons the Levittown Sewerage Disposal Plant on the Bristol pike near Haines road is the newest, most modern appointed plant of its kind in Lower Bucks county.

The estimated cost of the plant is upward of $2,000,000, thus accounting for a maze of machines and accessory equipment which is called into use to keep the plant operating on a 24-hour-a-day basis of efficiency.

When Levitt and Sons, Inc. first came into this area, it was hoped that existing water and sewerage treatments in Bristol borough and township would be piped into the proposed building project. However, it was found at a meeting of representatives of the Levitt firm and officials of the borough and township that supply of water and sewerage disposal units in the area was insufficient to maintain adequate service for the mammoth building project.

Air Filtered

The air that is pumped through the water is carefully filtered by an electrolytic process which disintegrates dust particles, pollen and the like, by firing 12,000 volts through it. Before the air enters the pumps it is once again tested and then sent into aeration tanks.

The tanks operate by keeping the water in constant motion to provide a natural function to accelerate. Aerobic bacteria act on the matter. This operation allows solidification of waste matter. The operation takes about 18 hours.

Sludge continues over the weirs at the end of the aeration tanks and then enters secondary sedimentation tanks where solidified particles are removed mechanically and sent to one of four large digestors.

The effluent water is then treated with chlorine and tested for bacteria content and is piped into the Delaware River. By using chlorine contact tanks for 30 minutes the engineers of the plant are able to process water absolutely free of bacteria.

Licensing Asked

A formal application for a license to operate a private water and sewage treatment plant was presented to the Public Utilities Commission of Pennsylvania by the Levitt firm. Bristol township and Tullytown township filed a protest on the grounds that operation of the utilities should be handled by a joint authority.

After several meetings between members of the Levitt group and officials of Bristol township and Tullytown borough it was decided to form a Lower Bucks County Joint Municipal Authority. Construction and financing of the sewerage plant was directed by Levitt and Sons, Inc., and by a long-range plan the utilities will someday be owned and operated by the authority.

Hospital Will Share In Bucks Estates Worth Half-Million

DOYLESTOWN — The Doylestown Emergency Hospital will eventually share in two estates that may be worth more than $500,000, it became known when the will of Florence M. Troemner, of Cedarhill Farm, Point Pleasant, was probated.

Miss Troemner, unmarried, died at the Fairmount Farms nursing home in Philadelphia, on Oct. 29, leaving an estate of $200,000 and upwards in personal property and $20,000 in real estate.

The executor and trustee of the estate is the Girard Trust Corn Exchange Bank of Philadelphia. The will was filed at the office of Bucks County Register of Wills C. Herbert Haldeman.

Miss Troemner's sister, Clara A. Troemner, died Feb. 2, 1952, leaving an estate that is now valued at close to $500,000, and a will of a similar nature that will eventually benefit the Doylestown Emergency Hospital.

Bristol Trust Co. To Hike Stocks

The Board of Directors of The Bristol Trust Company, at a recent meeting, passed a resolution to increase the bank's Capital Stock from $50,000 to $80,000.

It was proposed that this be accomplished by the sale of 5900 new shares at $100 a share, $50 of which will be added to Capital and $50 to Surplus. The current market price is $150 a share. 5050 of the new shares will be offered to present stockholders. They will have an opportunity to buy 1 share of new stock for each two shares held. The remaining 850 shares will be sold to persons authorized by the Board of Directors.

This resolution will be presented for approval at a special meeting of the bank's shareholders on Tuesday, Jan. 12, 1954.

In from New York State and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to plan the most suitable type plant to cope with the water and sewage problems for Levittown.

For most efficient operation the aeration type sewerage disposal unit was suggested and approved by a planning board composed of consulting sanitary engineers.

Today the plant handles more than 2,000,000 gallons per day. However, it is designed to process a minimum of 6,000,000 gallons of matter with possibility of handling a much larger quantity if necessary.

Although the product handled by the disposal unit could not be discussed at afternoon tea parties, the actual method of complete processing is one of meticulous scientific operation based on both mechanical and biological principles.

Six pumping stations located throughout the Levittown area distribute sewage to one station about a mile west of the plant. Here begins a process which depends entirely on precision balance under the expert eye of Robert F. Stutzman, superintendent.

Paul X. Blattler, Chief Engineer of water and sewage utilities of the Lower Bucks Joint Municipal Authority, claims that the water which is fully treated by the plant is purer than the Delaware River into which it flows.

In a continuous process the incoming, or influent sewerage first runs into a primary sedimentation tank where scum and sludge is collected in a hopper. The sludge is piped to large digestor tanks. However, part of the sludge is channeled into an activated sludge tank.

Meanwhile the de-sludged water continues on to the aeration tanks which are kept in constant motion by means of several diffusers.

These diffusers keep the water in tumult by splaying tons of pure air through the entire length of a 1,100,000 gallon tank.

The four huge digestor tanks containing sludge from both the primary and secondary sedimentation tanks are sent through heaters which increase formation of methane gas. Oddly enough the same gas formed in the digestors is used to burn more gas and also heat the entire plant. Chief engineer Blattler estimates that 24,000 cubic feet of gas is produced every day.

After the sludge has remained in the digestors for three weeks it is piped into a de-watering unit which processes the remainder which is completely odorless and provides any interested gardener with a good soil conditioner.

More important to officials of the Lower Bucks Municipal Authority is the constant claim that the odors in the neighborhood of the plant emanate from the plant.

The Halls are of hard-working New England stock. Ed's father supervises the work on a gentleman's farm owned by a wealthy Rhode Island doctor. His uncle is a master carpenter. Ed now works for Jas. D. Morrissey, Inc., operating heavy equipment in road construction at Willow Grove, Pa. He formerly was with Roadway Construction Co., grading roads throughout Levittown.

At the age of 14 Evelyn Hall started working in a factory in Wakefield, R. I. the town in which she was born. She was a seamstress in a wool and worsted mill, and worked there until the time of her marriage nine years later. Evelyn's father was also originally a factory worker, though he played with a local band at night. Many years ago, however, he took a small job with the Wallum Lake TB Sanatorium in Wallum Lake, R. I., and worked his way up in the organization to the position of assistant superintendent.

Met At Dance

Though they had lived in the same town all their lives, and probably had seen each other many times, Ed and Evelyn did not meet until they were grown up, and then at a local dance. They were married March 31, 1933.

Ed Hall had a mighty busy time of it in 1936. By day he was a bulldozer operator, and by night he helped his uncle in building his home in Peacedale, R. I., one mile from Wakefield. It was a four-room bungalow with a large two-car garage. The very highest quality of materials went into the new Hall manse. The floors were of select oak, and in the centre of the living room, Ed's uncle designed a large diamond, which took a week's work to lay perfectly. When they moved in "the floors were like glass." The exterior of the house was cedar-shingled, and Evelyn says that they carried their woodsy scent for a year.

In 1938 Edward Hall started his own business, which he operated until the early part of 1942, when he enlisted in the Army. He was with a Special Service Engineering outfit to Alexandria, La.

for training. Evelyn took the long train ride down to stay with him.

First Long Trip

It was the first time she had traveled so far from home and everything seemed so strange. Then when she arrived in Louisiana, the housing situation was so tight that "we had to pay a fabulous price for a room no bigger than my kitchen," she exclaimed ruefully. And it was hot. The temperature soared in the summer to 120. Their lovely home in Rhode Island grew increasingly desirable.

In 1944 Ed was sent overseas to the European Theatre. He had only a three-day pass in New York City before leaving, but Evelyn was able to spend those days with him.

Ed was in France after D-Day, helping in the construction of hospitals and bridges, and also the demolition of the latter. At one time his engineering outfit completely erected a bridge in the dead of the night without even the benefit of a match for light. From France, Hall was sent to Japan.

Worked at Naval Base

Evelyn worked at Quonset Point, R. I., Naval Air Station, as a store-keeper while Ed was overseas.

When he returned home as a master sergeant and was discharged in January of 1946, they went back to their home in Peace Dale where he set up his plumbing business again, and she was a happy housewife. Barry Edward was born on Nov. 2 of that year.

Everything went beautifully for the Hall's until 1952, when the big mill, Stevens Manufacturing Co., which was the main support of the town, moved South. The Halls had a small cabin cruiser which they had to sell. They sold their house and their business, for the town just folded up.

The Halls went South for employment, but were stymied when they found that there was no place at all to live. They went back to Rhode Island, and found to their amazement that the housing situation was impossible in their home state as well, so they bought a 35-foot trailer. Ed got a job as a bulldozer operator in East Greenwich, R. I., in March, 1952, and in September came down to Levittown to work for Roadway Construction Co. He made application for a Levittowner home in Magnolia Hills.

The Halls moved into their new home on January 3 of this year, and are again well settled. They feel they have a fine community in which to bring up their young son, Barry, who is in the second grade at the new John Fitch School. He has many friends in the neighborhood. His parents manage to get some exciting pinocchio games going every Saturday night.

Tucky, my horse, is smarter than most humans," Hogue claims. "He never goes through a traffic light!" We guess it must be that Tucky has a lot of "horse" sense.

And what about the man? "It's like living again," he said. "You know," he added, "for the first time in ten years I'm not ashamed to face my family."

But without the help of the local AA, he'd still be on the township dump.

Traffic Solution:

Woody Hogue, of Levittown, has a rather unique solution to the traffic problem: a horse and buggy. While the horse and buggy aren't for every-day use, it must be a temptation. Hogue gave the sleigh a trial-run recently in preparation for Christmas. At Christmas, it seems, he dresses up as Santa Claus and rides through Levittown—a ride that's sponsored by the local business firms.

Something for the Boys:

The American Legion Ladies' Auxiliary of Morrisville is collecting items for veterans in the hospitals. Donations of such sundries as razor blades, cigarettes, and toothpaste will be collected until Nov. 17 by the group. And the ladies have thought of everything: they're also collecting baby clothes for the children of the hospitalized vets.

Locking the Barn Door:

Some women of Bristol Township's Second Ward obviously weren't too happy with election results. They took one look at the story of the Democratic victory and formed a Lower Bucks County Republican Women's club. For those who always wanted to estimate the power of a woman, watch election results closely next year for a possible indication.

Here 'e' There:

Newly-appointed troop leaders for the proposed Levittown Boy Scout troop are Bernard Weissman, 36 Webster Lane, scoutmaster, and Herbert Demchick, 23 Chestnut Lane, assistant scoutmaster. R. W. Fechtenburg, of Croydon, president of the Bucks County Real Estate Board, has held that position for four terms.

Re-Conditioned" Men

They found him on the Bristol township dump not so long ago, in an alcoholic stupor. He had wandered from job to job, from place to place, and had finally become a scavenger.

But he was still "salvageable." All alcoholics are, if they have the will to help themselves. That is the belief of members of the Alcoholics Anonymous of Bristol, and it was this group that found the man. And they're men who should know, for they've been through it all themselves.

"We convinced him he could be helped," said a spokesman, "and the group. 'Oh, not at first—it wasn't that easy. But soon he understood that something could be done."

The man took the "cure"—five days of treatment at St. Luke's Hospital in Philadelphia—a cure that consisted mostly of injections of Vitamin B to build up his strength. And over and over again it was stressed he could never drink again if he wanted to stay normal.

"The first drink is too many," said the AA spokesman, "and the next 100 aren't enough."

When the man was cured, the Salvation Army obtained a job for him as a mechanic. "He's an expert mechanic," said his new employers. "We're glad to have him."

And what about the man? "It's like living again," he said. "You know," he added, "for the first time in ten years I'm not ashamed to face my family."
